During the entire period from the 19th of September to the 1st of October (the 1st to the 13th of October) our loss has consisted of two men killed, one subaltern officer and twenty men wounded, and twenty-five men injured by contusions; ten of the latter remain in

In order to destroy our fortification the ene my, under a well-sustained fire, has labored hard in the construction of batteries at the Admiralty, near Fort Alexander, in the Korabel-naia, in the artillery parade, and in the ravines at Oreschakoff, Apollo, and Sovetnitskaia. On the 12th of October, we observed from the Volokhoff tower that our adversary had established five mortars at the Grasky landing place; and, besides, had completed his trenches before bastions Nos. 5 and 6, and had carried away the gabions and wood from the Kamschatka lunette.

Against our left flank the Allies have effectod several movements in the valley of the Up-per Belbek, probably with the object of famili-arizing themselves with the land, and repairing the roads which lead to the valley of the Tchernaya across the mountain passes.

Prince Gortschakoff has issued an order in which he tells the army that the Emperor has invested him with full powers to cease or con-tinue the defence of the Russian position in the Crimea, according to circumstauces. The Prince says, "we will never, voluntarily, abandon this country, where St. Vladimir received the water of Grace after his conversion to Christianity; but there are conditions that sometimes render the firmest resolution impracticable and the greatest sacrifices useless.

The Emperor has designed to leave me sole judge of the moment when we ought to change our line of defence if it should be the will of God we should do so." The Allies Going into Winter Quarters

CAMP BEFORE SEBASTOPOL, Oct. 27. Now the excitement caused by the hope of offensive operations, and the uncertainty in ments, has subsided, and all sanguine expectations of victories and rewards have sobered down, the Allied camp begins more and more to assume the character of a cantonment. As visions of glory are laid aside for the year, thoughts of comfort begin to rise in every mind. Naturally enough, comfort suggests the idea of home; those who cannot indulge in that are thinking of making their winter establishment as snug as possible. There seems to be not much faith in huts, so whoever can contrive it puts up a stone-house, which is the height of ambition of every comfort-seeking individual. There was once a pleasant fancy, which arose in looking at the white houses of Sebastopol, and theatres, clubs, and even balls were not thought impossible for this winter; but what with our shot and shell, and the bon-fire kindled by the Russians before they left the town, very little beyond the four smoky and loop-holed walls remains of most of those dwellings, and the difficulty of quartering the army in the town arises not so much from the fire of the north side-although that would not have been without its drawbacks either-but from the circumstance that it would require ore labor to repair those ruins than to make the armies comfortable on their old camping ground. But the ruins of Sebastopol, although bey are not available for quarters, are rich i beams, planks, doors and windows, locks, and many other articles, which are eagerly coveted by every one in the camp, and especially by those who aspire to the stone houses.

ENGLAND. The Liverpool Times, in an editorial in rela-

"A war with America can form no part of the Bonapartist policy of France, and if the Bourbonist schemes which were defeated at the commencement of the war in the East are seeking through this country a vent in the States, et us hope that the aristocracy of these isles will keep aloof from such a foul plot, and will be the first to join the people in a solemn pro-test before Heaven against its consummation. We can have no war or rumors of war with our kinsmen, unless the present very slight cause of difference between the two nations be grossly and intentionally aggravated, in which case those who take a part in the drama of intrigue must prepare for the consequences."

The Liverpool Post, after stating that the Cushing and Crampton matters have no connection with the dispute between England and age depth of about 85 feet.

The United States serve.

The terms of sale will be: One fourth in cash. the United States, savs:

"We repeat, the dispute concerns the Central American question, a fair adjustment of which has been rendered doubtful by the proceedings of the British government, in provoking the angry feelings and just pride of the people and government of the United States by sending out a squadron, which, in the absence of any occasion for it, can only be regarded as a menace; and, in the next place by directing the officially inspired London papers to use towards American expressions which free people and powerful governments are always inclined to resent. That a storm will rage through the Union, and that the anti-English party will obtain a predominance in the administration, we have no doubt whatever. And again we ask, ought not the merchants of Liverpool to take some steps to bring public opinion to bear upon those old lords who once more appear to be drifting with all the momentum of imbecility, into war."

FRANCE. It is very confidently asserted in financial circles that the government, thinking that the Bank of France has not shown a sufficient disposition to assist it on sundry occasions, and has, besides, created embarrassments to trade by its recent measures, has determined before ong in making very serious changes in its constitution-changes calculated, of course, to give it a more complete control over it—and at the same time materially to increase its capital. It is further reported, and this certainly more probable, that Count d'Argout, the governor of the bank, is about to resign, or be removed, and that his successor is to be M.

Mague, Minister of Finance.

AUSTRIA.

A Dresden paper says, on what it represents to be good authority, that the Austrian Govern-ment has resolved to effect a further reduction of 20,000 men in its army. Financial reasons are represented to be the cause of this measure; and it is said that, as on the last occasion, the reduction will take place in the troops stationed

SPAIN.

A letter from Madrid in one of the newspapers, states that Lord Howden, an English Ambas-sador in Madrid, tried to get up a quarrel with he Spanish government and the French ambassador for having negotiated the accession of Spain to the Western alliance without him, and even to the exclusion of England! The English government however, is represented to have told him not to be so foolish.

The bombardment of the north side of Sebastopol continues; the enemy's fire, which at intervals was redoubled in its intensity against the north fort, has generally moderated and has scarcely inflicted any injury upon us; since the 28th of September (Oct. 10) it has sensibly diminished.

Judge Vespasian Ellis has returned to his post as one of the editors of the American Organ.

An amusing political sermon has been lately going the rounds of the press, the text of which is as follows: "And he played on a harp of thousand strings-spirits of just men made perfect." It begins to be supposed in political circles that the gambols, twistings, and inconsistencies of the Washington Union constitute the subject of the sermon.

DEATH OF DR. BECK .- The Albany (N. Y.) journals announce the death of Dr. Theodric Romeyn Beck, long known as the Principal of the Albany Academy, and as an eminent man of science. The deceased for many years edited the American Journal of Insanity. In the year 1823 he gave to the world his work on Medical Jurisprudence. The work was received with great favor in this country and Europe.

SLAVERY .- The Louisville Journal concludes an article of two and a half columns on the subject of slavery as follows:

"But what will be the condition of the South if slavery be wiped from the Republic? They are stripped of three millions of slaves, worth $600 each, and their plantations must go to waste. The black race in the South will outnumber the white, the North will not receive them, and the South cannot support them as freemen; the white man is ruined in the South, and the black man who displaces him relapses into barbarism."

Bogus Election. On the 9th October, Reeder received accord ing to the showing of his own friends, 2,372 votes in the Territory. This not being suffi-cient to beat Whitfields vote given on the day provided by law, we learn the polls were again opened, a week afterwards, and we presum they will keep voting until they are certain of beating Whitfield's vote. But according to Reeder's own statement, before the election, he cannot now claim a seat in Congress. He said if he did not receive more on the day of his election, than Whitfield had obtained at the election on the 1st, he would not claim a seat. What will Reeder now do?-Kansas Herald.

JOYCE'S TASTELESS SOLUTION Of Copaiba! 114 Chambers Street, N. Y.

Of Copaiba: 114 Chambers Street, N. Y.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

CENTLEMEN.—The valuable medicinal properties of Balsam Copaiba have long been recognized by the faculty, but the great disadvantage arising from its nauseous taste has hitherto prevented its administration in many diseases for which it is particularly adapted. The usual "modus operands" of prescribing it, either in the form of an Emulsion or Gelatinous Capsules, has not been found satisfactory, being liable to some objection, either from the difficulty experienced by some individuals in the deglutition of the Capsule or the small quantity of Copaiba generally found in the Emulsion.

Joyce's tasteless solution of Copaiba is the most unique preparation yet introduced to the Joyce's tasteless solution of Copains is the most unique preparation yet introduced to the medical profession, as it contains 50 per cent. of the purest Para Copains, without taste or smell, and at same time mixes clearly and freely with water, and is pronounced by the most eminent physicians and analytical chemists in the old and new worlds to contain all the medicinal properties of Balsam Copains without its disagreable characteristics.
